

If you read yesterday's dispatch from Atlanta you know that Herman Talmadge was renominated governor of Georgia in Wednesday's election although his opponent beat him by 10,000 votes.

But individual votes don't count for much in Georgia.

Alone among all the states Georgia has what is known as the county-unit system, a sort of Electoral College in which votes are segregated by counties and the county tabulation is what decides the governorship.

Thus, M. E. Thompson, great foe of the Talmadge dynasty, polled a popular vote of 175,751, against 185,678 for Herman Talmadge—but the county-unit tabulation came out 272 for Talmadge, to 128 for Thompson.

How's it done? Like this:

Under Georgia's county-rule big Fulton county (Atlanta) has a ratio of one unit for every 10,000 popular votes, while some of the small rural counties have a ratio of one unit for every 122 votes. That is, one rural vote can equal 82 votes cast in the City of Atlanta.

There's no par voting in Georgia—and where one man's vote isn't equal to his neighbor's you don't have democracy or anything else that rightly belongs in a representative democracy. I have more respect for a conservative state which respects the voting privilege because of educational or other requirements, than for this gray ghost of a democratic commonwealth that allows men to go to the polls and then cheats them out of their lawful choice.

It's all the more outrageous because the Georgia farce apparently apes the Electoral College. But there is this great difference—and don't forget it:

The unit of federal government is the state. There is no federal government except as the constitution defines the terms by which the individual states delegate central authority to Washington. We are citizens of Arkansas directly, and citizens of the United States by representation, so to speak.

The Electoral College is the device by which the citizens of the various states translate their state votes into federal ones—and within very close limits the Electoral College is accurate and fair. Nor can it be abolished without destroying the true unit of government—the state.

But Georgia's county-unit system is a fraud and an abomination. Georgians are citizens of Georgia—not of Hephazrah County or Hog Wallow Township. And as citizens of Georgia they are entitled to a par-value vote for governor.

But the Georgia lulu has been upped by the courts. And the state being the supreme judge of its own internal actions the only remedy lies in the hands of Georgia's citizens.

That a new day may be at hand is indicated by Mr. Thompson's 10,000-vote margin over the "winner." Sooner or later the Cracker State will crack down—and then that will be the end of the Hephazrah County and Hog Wallow Township folly.

Men Wanting to Fight Should Enlist

Washington, June 30 —(AP)—The defense department said today Americans wanting to join the armed services to fight in Korea should go to an enlistment station in the normal way.

A department spokesman said no special provisions apply to Americans of Korean ancestry, or others, wanting to go to Korea. But for the benefit of those who might want to the department had these suggestions:

Former soldiers who have not been out of service more than 18 months may designate the area in which they wish to serve, if releasing.

Odds Seem to Be Against Another War

Washington, June 30 (UP)—The odds today seemed to be against a third world war.

The situation on the Korean fighting front remained dark. But there were encouraging words here and in Moscow that indicated the Korean war, temporarily at least, would not engulf the globe.

The first hints of optimism came in these quick developments last night:

Kodiak, Alaska, was covered with a foot of ash by the eruption of Mt. Katmai in June 1912.

Reds Break Through Han River Lines

Tokyo, Saturday, July 1 —(AP)—An armored column of North Korean Communists was at least 15 miles south of the Han river in South Korea today and was threatening the American headquarters position at Suwon, an authoritative military source reported.

This news came as President Truman authorized use of U. S. ground forces to combat the Communist invaders.

General MacArthur's headquarters officially confirmed the invaders had made a break through southwest of Seoul.

The confirmation was withheld until receipt of news dispatches from Washington that a defense department spokesman said 40 to 50 Red armored vehicles had made the break-through.

Official channels withheld further details.

Authoritative informants, however, said the Reds were not far from the eight miles from Suwon by 1 a. m. today and probably were closer.

There was no information whether American field headquarters had left Suwon. Loss of Suwon would deprive the defense of the last remaining good-sized air strip north of Pusan, in extreme south east Korea 175 miles away.

The broad Han river is the principal natural barrier between the Red-captured southern capital of Seoul and the temporary southern capital at Taejon, 90 miles south of Seoul.

An earlier South Korean report said southern troops had reentered the suburbs of Seoul on the heels of fleeing Communists. It was not clear whether this report still stood, although it did not necessarily conflict with the news of a Red breakthrough southwest of the city.

Hard American air blows were being directed against North Korean bases and installations.

Russia refused a U. S. request for help.

Moscow, June 30 —(AP)—Russian last night turned down a United States request for the Soviet Union's help in getting North Korean forces out of South Korea.

A note addressed by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk said the Soviet government does not approve of the "interference of foreign powers in the internal affairs of Korea."

The U. S. had asked also for assurance that the Soviet government would "not take upon itself the responsibility for his unprovoked and unjustified attack."

Russia replied that responsibility for the fighting in Korea "lies with the South Korean authorities and with those who stand behind them."

There was no elaboration in the note of the phrase "those who stand behind them."

"The events which are going on in Korea were provoked by the attack of the troops of the South Korean authorities on the frontier areas of Northern Korea," the Soviet message added.

(Previously announced United Nations findings showed that North Korea began the hostilities last Sunday by invading the southern area.)

The Soviet government said it had "confirmed its traditional principle of non-interference in the internal affairs of other states" by withdrawing its troops from Korea "earlier than did the U. S. government."

(The Russians on Dec. 31, 1948, announced they had withdrawn all their occupation troops from North Korea, but a United Nations commission later was refused permission to visit Communist-dominated northern area. The United States last July 1 announced withdrawal of all its troops from South Korea except for about 500 military advisors requested by the South Korean government.)

Stock Market Takes a Jump in Reverse Trend

New York, June 30 —(AP)—The stock market turned on its heel this morning and shot ahead $1 to more than $3 a share.

The advance was a startling change of direction. At the close yesterday the market was headed downward at top speed with selling orders flooding into the exchange so fast that the highspeed ticker was still behind at the final bell.

This news came as President Truman authorized use of U. S. ground forces to combat the Communist invaders.

General MacArthur's headquarters officially confirmed the invaders had made a break through southwest of Seoul.

Youth Admits Setting Fires That Took the Lives of at Least 168 Persons

Columbus, O., June 30 —(AP)—Ohio Fire Marshal Harry J. Callan today said Robert Dale Segee, 21, Circleville, O., has signed statements admitting he set the Ringling Bros. circus fire in Hartford, Conn., that killed 168 persons and injured 412 others in 1944.

Callan said Segee also admitted setting between 25 and 30 major fires in Portland, Me., between 1939 and 1946, other fires in New Hampshire and Ohio and that he is personally responsible for the slaying of four persons.

Callan said all of Segee's statements have been carefully checked by his investigators since Segee was taken into custody last May 17 on the farm of a relative near East St. Louis, Ill.

A Pickaway county, Ohio, grand jury today indicted Segee on two charges of arson, stemming from fires in Circleville, Ohio.

Hot Springs Girl Named Miss Arkansas

Helena, June 30 —(AP)—The vacuous brunette singer and piano player is Miss Arkansas 1950.

She is Mary Lois Jennings of Hot Springs, who won the title here last night over 27 other Arkansas beauties.

Blonde Tommie Aboud of Searcy was second, and Mary Frances Adams of Little Rock was third.

Miss Jennings sang solos in Italian and English as her talent demonstration, which combined with her physical charms, poise, intelligence rating and other considerations, will give her a $1,000 scholarship, a $250 cash award and a chance at the Miss America title.

Miss Jennings is five feet, six inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, has a 36-inch bust and a 24 1/2 inch waist. Her eyes are hazel. Besides singing, she likes horseback riding. And she won't be 18 until Aug. 13.

The new Miss Arkansas was crowned—and kissed on the cheek—by Governor McMahon as successor to Miss Barbara Brothers of Little Rock, who won the honor last year.

At last night's closing session of the contest, the group of 16 girls who'd been selected as semi-finalists in the two preliminary judging rounds was reduced to five. From these five finalists, Miss Arkansas and the two runners-up were named.

Also in the final five were Nancy Jo Murray of Wynne and Wanda Fay Miles of Camden.

The finalists were asked three questions in testing their poise, intelligence and quick-thinking.

One was what each looked for most in the man she intended to marry.

Official Opening of Jamboree

Valley Forge, Pa., June 30 —(AP)—The Boy Scouts of America open their mammoth national jamboree today in the now-peaceful valley where George Washington's troops fought cold and hunger that freedom might be born on this continent.

And President Truman, speaking on these historic grounds tonight is expected to tell the massed scouts and their leaders that our fight for liberty continues today.

Nearly 50,000 attending this first national jamboree since 1937 will greet the President when he arrives by train from Washington.

Strong for 'Rights' Says Governor

Little Rock, June 30 —(AP)—Sid McMath will have you know he's just as strong for states rights as Ben Laney is.

The governor said so at Marianna yesterday in his gradually accelerating campaign for a second term.

McMath also said his friendship with President Truman, who supports some of the proposed legislation being fought by States Rights, is "a working relationship."

"I have been able to get a lot of things for the people of Arkansas because of that working relationship," he added.

Former Governor Laney, bent on getting McMath out of the chief executive's office and putting his self back in, was on the opposite side of the state, telling crowds at Nashville and other West Arkansas points what he'd done for the farmers.

McMath told his listeners—the occasion was a gathering of some 100 businessmen—that he'd been challenged to tell them "in person" what he thought of the proposed fair employment practices commission, "a socialized medical care," and "other kinds of federal encroachment on the rights of the individual."

Taft Wants Report on 'Mistakes'

Washington, June 30 —(AP)—Senator Taft of Ohio proposed today that Republicans draw up a formal report criticizing what he called the mistakes of the Truman administration in foreign policy. He said it could be used as a campaign document.

Taft's suggestion was made to a reporter in the face of President Truman's comment yesterday that the Ohio senator had made a political statement that was uncalled for in demanding his resignation of Secretary of State Acheson.

In a senate speech Wednesday, Taft said that Acheson's policies had been reversed by Mr. Truman's order for armed intervention in Korea to back up the United Nations' cease fire order.

The President told his news conference yesterday that there had not been any dispute in his cabinet over the Korean action. There wasn't a word of truth in the report that he had reversed Acheson, he President said. He added in a sentence he authorized reporters to quote directly:

"I think the political statement of Mr. Taft at this time is entirely uncalled for."

Christian Church to Hear W. S. Atkins

W.S. Atkins will be the principal speaker for the morning service at the First Christian Church on Sunday, July 2nd, at 10:50. He will fill the pulpit in the absence of the minister, Wm. P. Hardegree, who will be out of the city for three weeks and on active duty with the Army. Mr. Hardegree will be the assistant Post Chaplain at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for this period of time. Speakers for July 9th and 16th will be announced later and will be under the supervision of the Elders of the church. Luther Holloman will have charge of the music. There will be no evening services for these three Sundays.

Bullet Lodged 12 Years Is Removed

Little Rock, June 30 —(AP)—A pistol bullet was removed yesterday from a man's head where it had been embedded 12 years.

The surgeons who performed the delicate four and one-half hour operation on Jack Daniels, 28, described his prospects for recovery as "good."

Atomic Group Not to Heed Mr. Truman

Washington, June 30 —(AP)—Senate members of the joint atomic committee showed little sign today of heeding President Truman's expressed desire that they reconsider their turn-down of Summer T. Pike for a new four-year term on the atomic energy commission.

Mr. Truman made the suggestion at his news conference yesterday. Five of the nine senators on the senate-house committee had voted earlier in the day to ask the senate to reject Pike's nomination.

Under the law, Pike steps off the commission at midnight tonight leaving the AEC two members short of its authorized five-man strength. Pike has been serving as acting chairman.

"I do not believe there will be any change in the vote of the committee members on Mr. Pike," Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), committee chairman, commented. "I'm hopeful that the senate will feel differently about him and vote to confirm him."

One of Pike's opponents, who asked anonymity, agreed there was little likelihood the vote would be changed.

McMahon told reporters he would make no attempt to seek senate action on Pike until after July 4. The senate usually goes along with committee recommendations and Pike's backers conceded privately that his confirmation was an open question.

Mr. Truman described Pike as one of the commission's ablest and most faithful members. He said he could not understand the vote against him.

Four Republicans and one Democrat, Senator Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, combined to put the 56-year-old Maine Republican at least temporarily out of a job. House members of the committee took no part in the poll because the house does not act on presidential appointments.

Three of the Republicans, Senators Hickenlooper of Iowa, Millikin of Colorado and Bricker of Ohio, told reporters separately they voted against Pike because they did not think he was competent for the AEC job.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) declined comment on his vote and Johnson was out of town.

Voting for Pike were McMahon, Connally (D-Tex.), Tydings (D-Md.) and Russell (D-Ga.).

Ozan Well Abandoned as Dry

A shallow test drilled by J. B. Buchanan near the Ozan area has been abandoned as dry and a second attempt is scheduled in the same area. Operators are drilling to 2,000 feet.

Meanwhile the third test by the Burnette Drilling Company in the Bodcaw area had reached the pay sand area between 2,500 and 2,800 feet.

A test was made last night but operators were close with information.

Ex-Resident to Be Buried at Patmos

Seoul Suburbs Said Entered by South Troops

Tokyo, June 30 —(AP)—Southern troops were reported re-entering their Red occupied capital of Seoul tonight as General MacArthur ordered American planes to bomb North Korea air installations.

Clarence Rye, the republic's information director, broadcast a statement from the provisional capital of Taejon, 90 miles south of Seoul, that southern troops had entered Seoul's suburbs while northern tanks were seen retreating from the city.

The Communist invaders seized Seoul from the Republicans Wednesday.

The new turn of events came as MacArthur's assembled northern forces in the air and on the seas to throw at the Reds.

The North Korea air attack probably already have started. The Pyongyang radio broadcast the northern capital and undergone a heavy raid. The radio report had not been confirmed by headquarters here.

Neither did headquarters confirm a report that three northern tanks had managed to cross the Han river below Seoul, Red held southern capital. The river is the defense line between Republican troops and the invaders whose sweep from the north began Sunday.

To carry the fight to the Communists, MacArthur will draw on a formidable armada of American, British, Australian and New Zealand warships. Holland has offered naval units now in Indonesia. Japan based Australian warplanes waited only for the take-off signal.

U. S. navy carrier fighters and bombers also will join in the assault.

"We will use all the naval and air units at our command," said MacArthur's chief of staff, Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond.

American troops stood by in Japan, on the alert. Headquarters would not confirm reports that U. S. infantrymen would be sent to the front. But it is considered extremely possible that his will be done.

B-29's and other American warplanes pounded at North Korean positions around Red-occupied Seoul yesterday. They made 183 flights shot down five hostile planes, ripped up Seoul's Kimp airfield smashed trucks and a locomotive.

MacArthur called it the most successful air operations since the Korean offensive began. He said there were no American casualties. Eye witnesses saw 18 Superforts on one bombing mission.

Earlier reports said the heavy air attacks flushed North Korean forces out of Kimp, 16 air miles west of Seoul, capital of the U. N. blessed fledgling republic.

South Korean units regained the badly damaged airfield, but Seoul itself remained under Red control. Battle lines apparently stabilized along the Han river which winds its way through the bleak, brown countryside south of the ancient city.

The big question was whether the Red troops could ferry their tanks across the river. MacArthur's public information officer said headquarters had received no official reports that the river line has been breached.

Associated Press Correspondent O. H. P. King reported from Suwon, advanced American headquarters 20 miles south of Seoul, that South Koreans blew up the last remaining bridge across the Han.

Already on Way Say Defense Officials

Washington, June 30 —(AP)—President Truman today gave the go-ahead for use of American ground troops in Korea. Defense officials said they are already on the way.

Just what forces are to be used is a military secret. Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, who said they are on the move, explained he could "say nothing that will be of any use to the other side."

On that point, a White House announcement said only that Gen. Douglas MacArthur had been authorized "to use certain supporting ground units."

1. The United States air force to fly specific military missions into Northern Korea wherever necessary.

2. A naval blockade of the Korean coast.

3. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, to use certain supporting "ground units" in the efforts to turn back the Communist invaders from Southern Korea.

These new moves were announced after a cabinet conference and a meeting of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The White House statement said: "At a meeting with congressional leaders at the White House, this morning, the President, together with the secretary of defense, the secretary of state, and the joint chiefs of staff, reviewed with them the latest developments of the situation in Korea."

The congressional leaders were given a full review of the intensified military activities.

"In keeping with the United Nations Security Council's request for support to the Republic of Korea in repelling the North Korean invaders and restoring peace in Korea, the President announced that he had authorized the United States air force to conduct missions on specific military targets in Northern Korea wherever militarily necessary, and had ordered a naval blockade of the entire Korean coast. General MacArthur has been authorized to use certain supporting ground units."

There was no immediate elaboration here as to what these "certain supporting ground units" might be.

Dispatches from Korea have made it plain, however, that the South Koreans are particularly in need of artillery and anti-tank weapons.

MacArthur has in his Far East command an army strong in 123,500 men.

This includes four divisions. The are the first: cavalry division, an infantry division despite its name, the seventh infantry division, the 24th infantry division and the 25th infantry division.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, the army's chief of staff, said after a recent visit to the area that the Far Eastern troops are in a high state of readiness and training.

The U. S. ground troops are stationed in Japan, Okinawa and other islands of the Ryukyu chain, Philippines.

Following the White House announcement, an army spokesman said all of the army troops in Far East command have been alerted. He said he did not know what units or what types of troops they would have in Korea.

The army also has an additional 8,000 men in Hawaii.

U. S. Action May Have Saved U. N.

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Five years ago this week the representatives of 51 nations signed a piece of paper which expressed the noblest of intentions. It began this way:

"We the people of the United Nations determined to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war... And to unite our strength to maintain international peace and security."

This was the beginning of the charter of the U. N., which has had a very unhappy life. And now, five years after the charter was signed in San Francisco, the next item in the book is a question: What's going to happen to the U. N.?

If the United States as a member of the U. N. hadn't stepped into the fight this week between the Northern and Southern republics of Korea, the U. N. would be a joke and might as well be dead anyway.

No small nation trying to stave off communism could have any hope of help from the U. N. If its members stood idly by while the North Koreans — Communist-run and Russian sponsored — invaded South Korea and wiped out there the Southern republic which the U. N. itself had blessed.

The swift U. S. move to bomb and block the North Koreans had the approval of the U. N. But now that the U. N. has acted, to the discomfort of Communists everywhere, will Russia stay in the ing the noon hour, Dr. Charles Lincoln described steps to be taken in controlling cotton insects this season, and warned that right now is the time for "watchful waiting" in boll weevil control.

There were about equal numbers of men and women visitors. The women had opportunities to see what can be done by arrangement to make housework easier and more pleasant. Mrs. Flora Friend and Miss Minnie Bell of the Extension Service discussed what had been accomplished in kitchen arrangement in one of the homes on the station and why the various changes were made. In another house, Mrs. R. M. Harrison showed how the bathroom in her home had been redecorated to make it adjacent to the bedroom.

The Rev. William B. Oglesby, Jr., pastor of the Pulaski Heights Presbyterian church in Little Rock was to give the principal address on the afternoon program, speaking on the need for stability in today's world of strain. Cecil M. Bittle, assistant director in charge of the station, presided, and entertainment was furnished by Oscar Scoggins, of Nashville.

U. N.?

If Russia and its satellites decide to get out, the U. N. may still try to carry on under the name of "United Nations" but it won't be the same U. N.

Russian withdrawal would split the world into two — maybe three parts:

1. The United States and its allies.
2. Russia and its allies.
3. And maybe India, Pakistan, Burma and a few other countries might get out of U. N., trying not to offend either side, hoping to survive by staying in the middle.

That noble charter of the U. N. mentioned that the members would set up some kind of international police force to keep peace. In five years it hasn't been able to do so.

The North Koreans were overwhelming the southerners so quickly that, if the U. S. hadn't stepped in, the fight would be over before the U. N. itself could do anything about it.

But the U. N. security council backed the U. S. and called on its members to give help to the South Koreans to restore peace, thus living up to the opening paragraph of the charter, mentioned above.

The Russians didn't take any part in this vote. And, since no one can read Stalin's mind from here, a couple of guesses could be made about the future:

athe non-Communist Western countries are standing together against communism in this struggle, as they've stood together in others. So while this crisis is greater, the situation is essentially not new.

Therefore, Russia, which has rocked along in the divided U. N. so far — with the Russians and their satellites on one side and the western world on the other — may decide to stick along for a while, if Russia can see any benefit from doing so.

It seems clear that Russia's only effectiveness in the U. N. now is

Auto Industry Could Produce Even More

Detroit, June 29 (AP)—The nation's giant auto industry built $29,000,000 worth of armament in World War II; it could build much more much faster if another emergency arose.

That's the view of high auto industry sources today.

Nobody doubts the industry has a tentative program for arms production in another war. But its executives don't talk about war production possibilities excepting in generalities.

Yet it probably isn't much of a secret that just about every auto industry plant has been surveyed as to its adaptability to armament production and that every manufacturer knows what he will be asked to make.

One high industry executive, preferring to remain unidentified, said recently:

"Of course, we have some military work under way; right now it is mainly replacement work on parts and materials for vehicles in the field. Actually the volume isn't as great as you might think. It couldn't be very heavy while we are turning out close to 200,000 peacetime vehicles a week. But we are working closely with the military."

The auto industry likes to think of itself as "freedom's arsenal." Perhaps it has a right to that designation. In World War II it made almost every type of armament from bullets to 60-ton tanks. It built small arms and long range guns, torpedoes and aircraft engines, tank destroyers and bomb sights.

And before the war's end it had that of obstruction for Russian purposes. But so long as it stays in, the West at least can have some direct dealing with its representatives.

If it gets out, the split will be deep. And that kind of contact may be pretty much lost. Some political philosophers might regret Russia's withdrawal on the grounds that it would make of the world two armed camps. But the world is in two armed camps already.

one plant alone turning out bomb or planes at the rate of one every hour.

The industry also had a share in development work on the atom bomb. This secret work, incidentally, was carried on in what appeared to be a department alteration in the heart of downtown Detroit, in the process of town Detroit.

Francis Jane Osborn Compliment at Party

Miss Frances Jane Osborn bride-elect of Jimmy Hazzard, was complimented with a lovely miscellaneous shower at eight o'clock last evening at the home of Mrs. Ed Thrash. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Thrash, Miss Thelma Thrash, and Mrs. Miles Laha. Summer flowers decorated the Thrash home. The honoree was presented a corsage of white feathered carnations by the hostesses.

A treasure hunt was held with Miss Osborn finding her many beautiful and useful gifts. During the evening a garden romance game was enjoyed.

Following the opening of the gifts, Mrs. Laha and Mrs. Thrash invited guests into the dining room where the brides table was covered with a floor length net cloth and centered with a low bowl arrangement of Shasta daisies and fern. Mrs. F. J. Burroughs presided at the frosted punch, and Miss Thelma Thrash served the cakes.

The buffet was centered with a white heart edged in lace and in front of the heart where china dolls dressed as the bride and bride-maids with miniature baskets of white flowers.

There were 26 guests present for the occasion.

Virginia Ann Magness and Jack Bell Feted

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Magness entertained with a beautifully appointed buffet dinner at their home in Emmet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, complimenting bride and bridegroom-elect Virginia Ann Magness and Jack Bell.

The reception rooms were decorated with lovely arrangements of greenery and summer flowers. On the mantle was a low arrangement of marigolds which reflected in the spacious mirror. A side table was adorned with a crystal bowl filled with an arrangement of pink gladioli and mallow by a single white taper in a silver holder.

The bride-elect was radiant in a dress of pink chambray embroidered in white and a corsage of white gladioli in her hair. The bride couple were presented with a gift of linen.

Covered with an imported floor length lace cloth, the dining table was centered with a low arrangement of Shasta daisies and lilies, flanked by lighted white tapers.

Lighted white tapers and rose gladioli, lilies and fern graced the buffet in an attractive arrangement.

Those enjoying the occasion were the bride couple, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Magness, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Breed, Mrs. Delton Houston and the hosts.

Double Wedding Held in Nashville

In a double wedding Saturday June 17, Mrs. Vera Green, became the bride of E. L. Hassell, and Miss Eugene Sue Hassell, daughter of Mr. Hassell, became the bride of Frank J. Livingston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Livingston of Patmos, at the First Baptist church parsonage in Nashville, Ark.

The Reverend W. E. Perry, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The brides were attired in navy blue suits with navy and white accessories and each wore a corsage of stephanotis.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couples left on a wedding trip to Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Livingston are making their home at 413 North Elm, and Mr. and Mrs. Hassell are domiciled at 250 East 13th street.

Those from out of town attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Ritchie and son of Texarkana, Tex. and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Livingston of Patmos.

Coming and Going

Miss Gladys Wommack and Miss Ann Whitten left Wednesday for Little Rock to spend two weeks with Miss Wommack's mother, Mrs. Virgie Wommack and Miss Whitten's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ratcliff.

Miss Laura Ann Garancio left Friday via plane for Greenville, S.C. She will visit New York City, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and points in Canada before returning to her home the last of July.

Mr. and Mrs. Mose Smith returned to their home in Ruston, La. after a visit with Miss Norma Lewis, and Mrs. M.E. Garancio.

Miss Peggy Cook left Friday for Dallas to visit relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Henry of Fayetteville have recently moved to Hope to make their home.

Miss Helen Downs and Miss Norma Jean Maroney of Magnolia were Wednesday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John Downs.

Mrs. William B. Murry, Mrs. John Sturgis of Arkadelphia and Mrs. Thomas Lavin of Atlanta, Texas are guests of Mrs. Emmett Thompson and Dr. Thompson.

Personal Mention

Among the 36 advanced military students from Henderson State Teachers College who arrived here recently to attend the Reserve Officers Training Corps summer camp were three men from Hempstead county.

Jack L. Burke and James H. Ingram of Hope and James O. Harris Jr. of McCaskill will receive six weeks of intensive field training in weapons, tactics, marksmanship and various other related military subjects.

Aboard the cruiser USS St. Paul, is Midshipman John McDonald Duffie, Jr., USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald Duffie of 1108 South Elm St., Hope, Ark., a student at the University of Oklahoma, Norman.

Should Not Stay in Water Too Long

Mrs. Foy Hammons, manager of the Municipal Swimming Pool, today issued the following statement relative to the use of the pool and asked that it be called to the attention of all parents:

"We appreciate the excellent patronage which the pool is receiving this summer and we believe we are doing everything possible to see that the children enjoy themselves and at the same time are well protected from the standpoint of public health.

However, we wish to call to the attention of the parents the length of time some children are staying in the pool. It is commonly recognized by health authorities that if a child stays in the water over two hours his body absorbs water, his skin becomes drawn and he complains with his eyes.

This condition is not caused by any chemical which is placed in the water and the effect on the child would be the same if the water contained no chemicals whatever. We therefore urge the parents to cooperate by observing this rule of health. Some children have been staying in the pool for several hours and we hesitate to ask any child to leave the pool.

We feel that through the cooperation of the parents and children this problem can be solved."

Expect French to Approve New Premier

Paris, June 30 (AP)—Premier designate Henri Queuille goes before the national assembly today for confirmation of his appointment. He is virtually sure to get it.

Queuille needs 311 of a possible 621 ballots. He may well poll more than 400. Only the Communists are certain to vote against him. Debate the precedes the ballot is scheduled to start this afternoon.

Queuille served as prime minister for 13 months up to last October when he was succeeded by Georges Bidault. It was a post-war endurance record for the precarious post.

He held the jobs of interior minister and vice premier in Bidault's cabinet which was forced out Saturday after losing a confidence vote on a domestic wage-increase issue. Bidault may now ask a key post in Queuille's cabinet.

Since any cabinet must have a majority to stay in power, France is bound to have essentially the same type of government until a new election shifts the balance in parliament.

The basis for the present majority is Bidault's popular Republican movement (MRP), a left-of-center Catholic party. It can count on 150 votes in the national assembly, the

'Carousel's' Star on Lion Show Sunday

Christine Johnson, popular young contralto of Broadway musical 'Carousel' fame, will be Snooky Lanson's special guest of honor on Lion Oil's "Sunday Down South" on Sunday, July 2, on the Lion Network at 5:00 P.M. "Sunday Down South" is carried locally by KXAR.

Miss Johnson is well known to fans for her performance in the famous E. Rodgers-Hammerstein Broadway production "Carousel". Christine met Richard Rodgers at a party one night while she was in New York studying. After hearing her sing "Hearts Ease", Rodgers hired her for the role she originated in "Carousel". She is remembered for popularizing two of the musical's top tunes, "June is Bustin' Out All Over" and "You'll Never Walk Alone".

Christine Johnson is no newcomer to the South as she began her singing career at a radio station in Nashville and has made many concert tours throughout the South. Her vocal appearance will be the highlight of "Sunday Down South".

For a musical balance to the show singing master of ceremonies Snooky Lanson will join with the Lion Oil Chorus for two numbers: "The Picnic Song" and "On The Nutgoing Tide", his solo offering Snooky does a torch tune are You Lonesome Tonight". Dottie Dillard's contribution will be her special version of the famous "St. Louis Blues" and then swings into the Dixie mood to tell "The Dixieland Band".

next largest group after the Communists' 180.

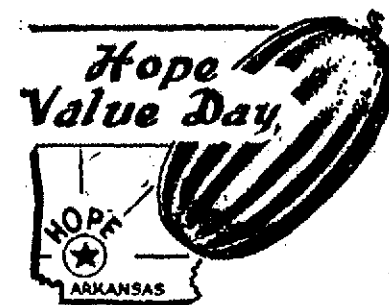

Queuille's Radical Socialists (right of center) have some 50 votes.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler
Copyright, 1950
By King Features Syndicate.

New York, June 28 — The only sensible and courageous way to deal with Communists in our midst
is to make membership in Communist organizations or covert subsidies a capital offense and shoot or otherwise put to death all persons convicted of such. These people are guilty of conspiring with a foreign enemy to make war on our country. In this war, the enemy will kill as many Americans as he may have to in order to destroy our government and make slaves of all those Americans who,
after the defeat, refuse to join the triumphant regime. This regime would be run by the American Communists remaining alive. It would, of course, put the country through a reign of terror similar to the massacres in Russia after Kerensky was kicked out and the massacres in Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and other states which fell under similar treachery followed the government of Soviet Russia with inside help.

No person in public office, indeed
no American capable of passing the minimal intelligence test prescribed for applicants for a driver's license can plead ignorance of the fact that the government of Soviet Russia has a fixed, unshakable purpose of conquering our government by force and violence, which are synonymous and or by political dissolution from the inside. It is a crime under our state and federal laws to try to unsettle the rebellious person has no connection with Russia. Any gang takeable. One of Arkansas leading dealers supplies customers in North Hempstead and will be glad to assist you in getting started. Write Rawleigh's Dept.
AKF-41-216A, Memphis, Tenn.,
or see Corwin Crow, Rt. 1, Box
30, Nashville, Ark. 29-11.

The criminals who terrorized communities in the interests of the C. I. O. with the assistance of the Communists in the organizational insurrections were violent enemies of our government. They should have been executed. The Michigan national guard was out in force, under arms, ready to kill the insurrectors and Governor Frank Murphy, the coward who later went to the supreme court, should have been tried and put to death
for his refusal to enforce the law,
provided appropriate punishment for such betrayal. If it does not so provide it should be amended at once and all other states should look to their laws and act accordingly.

Fastidious quibbling over circumstantial evidence of membership in the Communist party or in its flagrant fronts serves no purpose but the enemy's. It enables traitors to mock and taunt patriotic Americans by consorting and cooperating with disguised enemies and then cloak them with the protection of the constitution which they are trying to overthrow. Laws should be enacted and the courts should adopt rules recognizing the fact that traitors who knowingly consort with and serve the purposes of the enemy have intentionally put themselves in jeopardy. The punishment for such conduct should be the same as though the defendant were, in fact a member of the party.

All members of the Communist party are parties to the criminal conspiracy against the United States. Inasmuch as the success of that conspiracy would be fatal to the United States all these conspirators should be subject to capital punishment and the national and state laws should be so amended. All fellow-travelers, being on warning, should be exposed to the same penalty and circumstantial evidence of the kind commonly adduced against plaintiffs in Communist libel suits should be admitted and given the most earnest consideration. It is disgraceful that the United States, which has been courageous in many matters, lacks the guts to adopt and enforce laws for its own defense against enemies within.

This problem has brought out many thoughtful arguments for and against the principle of guilt by association. Honest patriots have spoken for both sides of the proposition that birds of a feather flock together. But it is an insult to intelligence to argue at the present stage of affairs that a fellow-traveler is innocent because he likes to play at bird-watching with Communist friends. A fellow-traveler runs with the enemies of its republic because he shares
their interest in the destruction of the United States. An intelligent jury could not make the mistake of accepting bird-watching as the prevailing common interest.

There is no need to suppress the study of communism or any other philosophy or plan of government
nor the advocacy of change, although advocates should be warned that they take the chance of being misunderstood and penalized by mistake. Some towering brains may be able to discriminate
and forgive, but these are perilous times and we have been warned

by the lot of many other nations that political action is a formulated preliminary step to a war political dissolution. In emergencies we may regard the solvent activities as circumstantial evidence of hostile purposes. Our system and our intelligence are not perfect. They are only the best we have to serve our purposes
and they should be administered and revised to serve only our purposes and not those of the enemy and his agents.

Harry Bridges won his reversal
in the second of the farcical proceedings against him on the disgraceful finding of the supreme court that he did cooperate with the Communists but only for lawful purposes and had a mental stipulation that he would stop short of violence to overthrow the United States. That was a dishonest opinion and a political lie in the political interest of the Roosevelt myth and in violation of law. If I go out with a gun-mill, knowing what he is up to, and drive him to the place and wait outside while he kills the bartender, I am guilty of murder,
I go to the chair, not merely as a conspirator but as a party to the crime. The court admitted that that was what Bridges was up to but absolved him because he had a legal right to drive the car and a legal right to associate with the stickup until the stickup occurred.
In that case, the stickup never came off and the supreme court
therefore absolved Bridges altogether.

season won't be half over until July 8, the all-star game break.

Eight more are one step back.
Another dozen still have a chance to crash the exclusive lodge.
Now 10 wins in June are no guarantee of 20 come October.
But it's a good bet even old customers Mike Bobby Feller (7-6), Hal
Newhouser (6-5) E and H o w i e
Politt (7-5) still are in the running.

Only seven made it last year,
five in the American and two in the National. Back in 1931 the National didn't have a single 20-game winner. You have to burrow back to 1928 to get in to double features — 11 for both leagues. The high is 17, set in 1903 and matched in 1905 and 1920.

LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS

Dear Truck Owner:

Your truck license fee is due and payable between July 1 and July 31, under the provision of Act 235 of 1949, passed by the present State Administration. The Act further provides that the last date for securing license without penalty is July 31.

Truck license fees have been increased from 50% to more than 300%. For example:

FEES THAT WERE:	ARE NOW:
$ 8.00	$ 12.00 to $ 18.00
12.00	35.00 to 46.00
35.00	49.00 to 130.00
45.00 to $ 60.00	135.00 to 200.00
90.00 to 125.00	270.00 to 390.00
150.00	450.00

Next January, I shall ask the legislature to repeal this Act and to pass a new truck license law that will equitably distribute this tax.

I shall insist upon another provision of the Act to provide that license fees be collected in January instead of July. I am unalterably opposed to working a hardship on the farmers of the State by collecting a tax at the time of year when many farmers are borrowing money to make a crop.

You may be assured that I shall insist upon a truck license law that is fair to everyone.

With kindest personal regards.

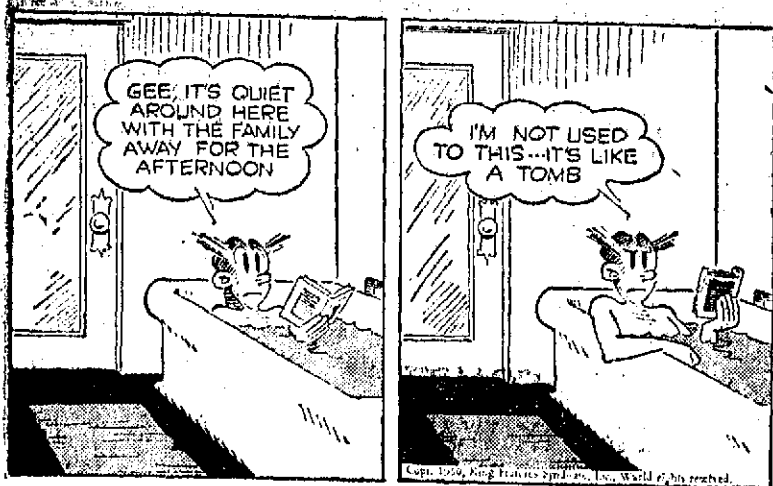

Signed —

Ben Laney

MURDER LIQUIDATED

Copyright 1950 by Julius Long MEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Because of anonymous tips of $1000 bills for four days, Ben Corbett, special investigator of Attorney General Kever, on a spot. He has been assigned to find someone who is accepting bribe in Kever's office. Kever naked way Corbett has recommended no prosecution in a recent case involving W. G. McGregor, who recently went bankrupt. Paul Waring, Kever's assistant, suggests Corbett was "bought off."

KEEVER gazed at me. I knew that he would be wondering if that anonymous phone call had referred to me. I turned about slowly.

"Do you think I took McGregor's money, boss?"

He stared at me for five full
seconds, then answered:

"You yourself suggested the use of a frisk on bribe suspects."

I nodded, still looking him in the eye.

"I'll submit to a frisk on the spot. But I'm telling you that if you believe Waring's accusation enough to humiliate me with that,
it's the last job I'll ever do for you!"

I hoped the cold sweat was confined to my spine. If Kever made me submit to a frisk now, I had in fact done my last job for him.
Kever finally answered after what had seemed a geological era:

"No, Ben, I guess I can count on you. It isn't the first time you've permitted sentiment to influence you foolishly. Be careful after this. Other men, who don't know you as well as I do, might get wrong ideas again."

"You'll serve the warrant for McGregor's arrest," Waring said
to me.

I started to go, then turned back. "Just one more question, boss. Did Durbin think up this idea?" I had seen Dr. Durbin, state criminologist, entering Ke-ver's office after I left it earlier.

"It was my idea," Waring spoke up. "Durbin did say your report had been in several days, and a good thing he was on the job. If we had slipped up, Colonel Winton would run to the governor and you know what that would mean."

I left the office positive Durbin's visit to Kever had something to do with the heat being put on Mc-Gregor and that this thing was tied in with those four $1000 bills.

It was half an hour later when I reported that the warrant was ready. I went out to her desk and picked it up, Shelle with me.
We used my car to drive the 10 miles beyond the city limits to the McGregor home, one of those comfortable country places set a couple of miles off the main highway, and shaded with elms and maples.

I parked at the side of the house,
walked around front with Shelle dejectedly following me. I rang the bell, and presently Sylvia Mc-Gregor answered with a friendly smile at Shelle.

"Your father here, Miss Mc-Gregor?" I asked.

She frowned now. "Yes, but he's lying down. What can you want to see him about? You've already talked to him."

"That's right, Miss McGregor. I may as well tell you. I've got to arrest him."

She gasped and stared at me
with such deep loathing as I had never seen before. Then her glance darted beyond me as a car rolled up the drive.

"Thank heavens! Here's dad's lawyer!"

The car stopped, and Lew Jeris
got out.

Lew had represented the Mc-Gregor Casualty Company and I was glad of his arrival. He would explain everything to McGregor and his daughter, and there would be a minimum of trouble.

"What's up?" he demanded, climbing the verandah steps. He was a little man in his 40's with sharp eyes peering from a lined, wary face. I told him. He shrugged. "I was afraid of that.

It's a rotten shame. McGregor can be guilty of nothing more than a technical violation of the law. His intentions were honorable."

I couldn't tell him that I agreed,
for that would be double-crossing Kever.

Jeris went to break the news to McGregor and after about 10 minutes he rejoined us. "Can you hold off long enough for me to find ball for McGregor?" he asked.
"It certainly won't be more than $10,000. Some of McGregor's friends will put up that much."

I got Kever on the phone and after Jeris talked to him, agur-atively down on his knees, Kever agreed to let Jeris have two hours
if Shelle and I stayed with Mc-Gregor. "Don't let him out of your sight," he added.

Jeris took Sylvia with him as they drove off toward Capital City and Shelle and I went upstairs
to see McGregor.

WE found him in a bedroom at the rear of the second floor.
He sat dismally at a window, dressed in an old bathrobe and staring out at the woodlot at the rear of the house. He turned a haggard face toward us, and his eyes blazed as he recognized us.

"So it's you!" He recognized Shelton and nodded coldly. Then he returned his gaze to me.

"I promise you one thing—I'll have plenty of company! I won't be the only one in a cell!"

I exchanged a quick glance with Shelton.

"Mind explaining that crack,
Mr. McGregor?"

His eyes narrowed as the hatred intensified. "You know what I mean! Do you want me to say it in front of Mr. Shelton?"

"Go right ahead, Mr. McGregor.
Who's going to get locked in a cell if I take you in?"

"You are, Corbett! Do you think I'm going to send you $4000 for a favorable report on my case, then take a rap?" He spat. "I'll show you that you can't double-cross
me!"

Mrs. Mabel Kitchen, 1650 Amsterdam Street, Covington, Ky., says that she didn't realize how wonderful it is to be without those unbearable aches and pains of neuritis and she thinks HADACOL deserves only the highest praise—

Mrs. Kitchen was suffering deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains. Unlike most remedies HADACOL doesn't give temporary relief, but instead treats the real cause of the sickness due to such deficiencies.

Mrs. Kitchen's statement "So far I have taken three bottles of HADACOL and I am just starting on my fourth. Before I started taking HADACOL I had aches and pains of neuritis in my shoulders,
my back, my arms; I could hardly move without having those terrible, aches and pains. I seemed to have a cold all the time and worst of all I couldn't eat anything to give my system a balanced diet. Then I heard about HADACOL from a very good friend of mine. After taking the second bottle the aches and pains were about gone and my appetite had improved. Now I am on top of the world. I eat well, I have gained weight and, best of all, the aches and pains are gone completely. I heartily recommend HADACOL to all my friends."

It's Different
Remember, HADACOL - helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (where Iron is needed)
to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ, and every part of your body—to the heart, liver, gall bladder, pancreas, kidneys and lungs, even to the eyes, hair and nails. Countless thousands are benefiting from HADACOL - even hundreds of doctors have recommended HAD-ACOL to their patients.

Don't forget, HADACOL is sold
on a strict money-back guarantee.
Give remarkable HADACOL a chance to help you. It is never too late to start taking HADACOL.
Try HADACOL today. Accept no substitutes. You'll feel great with
